

Dear Students,

It is important that you read all directions, announcements, emails, and assessments carefully in the online environment. It is also important that you ask questions when you are confused.

McGraw-Hill has graciously agreed to give all BIOL 2710 students Connect access with the electronic textbook for free for the remainder of the semester. To get free access to Connect, you must follow the steps listed below.

1. Click on McGraw-Hill Connect on the left side panel of the course homepage.
2. You will be prompted to enter your email address and some additional information.
3. Once this information is entered, the program will ask if you have an access code.
4. Please copy/paste the following code: JOYO-HKNE-DB7W-38CB-5MOR
5. Once you have access to the Connect course, scroll down the assignments list to the bottom of the page.

Connect access is important because all lab assignments are posted in Connect. The lab assignments will be used to replace the lab exam 3 grade. You will receive directions concerning the lab assignments later.

Stay healthy, stay focused, stay connected!
